LADIES VISIT TOWN COUNCIL

And Urge that no More Street Scrapings be Placed on East Middle Street. No More Porches on Borough Pavements.

The scrapings from the streets shall be hauled to Broadway instead of East Middle street extended, no wooden buildings of any size shall be permitted in the borough within a radius of three blocks of the Square and none more than 15 x 15 in any other portion of town, and no porches or first floor bay windows projecting over the building line shall be allowed in the town while front steps on the pavement shall not be permitted to extend more than three feet. These and a few more things the town council decided in an adjourned session held on Friday evening.

It was ladies' night in the council room for a committee of women representing the somewhat wrought-up East Enders, were on hand to protest against the dumping of street scrapings on the thoroughfare in front of their homes. And right nobly did they go to their task and accomplish what they wanted. Mrs. Danner Buehler was chairman of the visitors and the other members were Mrs. William Troxell, Mrs. Maurice McCullough and Mrs. John Shellman.

Mrs. Buehler characterized the scrapings from the street as "insanitary filth," said that it would breed disease, that its odor was most objectionable as would be proved if councilmen would investigate, and also avowed that it was not suitable road-making material.

All the councilmen present took part in the discussion which followed. Messrs. Armor and Codori championing the cause of the ladies and the rest of the council claiming that the hauling of the mud was justifiable in view of proposed improvements to the street.

Those supporting this contention claimed that it was simply the intention to use the mud as a filler until the road was gotten to a certain level and then stone would be put on and a good road made, the stuff being in reality ground up lime stone and, with water, forming mud that made excellent cement to hold the stones together.

"Cement!" said one of the ladies. "About one per cent."

President Troxell called attention to the way the mud on the Bonneauville road was now being used saying "And last winter Hanover street was the worst in town."

"Well, if it was worse than East Middle it must have been a peach," said one of the committee.

"It was a peach," admitted Mr. Troxell.

Mr. Armor contended that putting mud on first was like starting to build a house at the roof. Mr. Kitzmiller claimed that the ladies had been unduly excited because the mud was hauled there when it looked more like slime than anything else and had it been allowed to dry a little would not have caused all the fuss. Mr. Farney said that on no street in town were stone only used.

Every side of the question was argued—whether or not the mud would get hard or would become dust, how soon the borough intended hauling stone there, just what the grade of the street was and various other things which consumed about an hour's time. Then Mr. Codori moved that work at hauling the scrapings to East Middle St. extended be stopped and that the dirt be taken to Broadway instead. It was claimed that there was much loose material on that street which the mud would bind together and help to give better road. Mr. Armor seconded the motion which was carried unanimously. And the ladies, smiling their thanks, departed.

The new wooden building ordinance was talked over at length the discussion finally terminating in the ordinance committee being instructed to draw up an ordinance forbidding structures of wood or other inflammable material or wooden roofs within three blocks of the Center Square, and no buildings of wood or other inflammable material more than 15 x 15 or equivalent size in any other portion. This matter has been under consideration by Council for some weeks past and this conclusion was reached after much discussion. It was the general opinion that more protection would have to be given on account of possible fires and attention was called to the dangerous conditions which now exist.

An ordinance was passed and ordered advertised forbidding the erection of any porches on the pavements in town. The old ordinance allowed four feet and as a result many pavements are crowded and inconvenient for pedestrians. The new ordinance would do away with this entirely. First floor bay windows extending over the pavement line are also prohibited, the old ordinance allowing twenty inches. Bay windows above the first floor are

STOLE HORSE FROM STABLE

Resident of Near York Springs Victim of Horse Thief who Worked under Cover of Darkness. Traced Some Distance.

William Howe, of near York Springs had a horse taken from his stable early Thursday morning and up to this time has not been able to find a trace of the animal though every effort has been made to apprehend the thief.

The man worked quietly and nothing of the theft was known until daylight when Mr. Howe went to the stable and found that the horse was gone. A bridle also was missing with one of the lines, giving credence to the theory that whoever had taken the horse was in a vehicle and let the animal follow.

Mr. Howe at once got busy and after some searching found tracks in the road which he judged to be those of the team which led his horse away. He hurriedly gave chase and followed the track as far as Hampton where he lost the clue and is now at sea concerning the whereabouts of the horse or the identity of the party who took it. He made a trip to Hanover, also, but it proved of no value in locating the horse.

The animal was a heavy brown horse with a small star on the forehead and is said to have been slightly "sprung" in the front knees.

PREPARE FOR TROUT SEASON

Near Approach of Opening of Fishing Season for Speckled Beauties Wakes up the Anglers. Fish Said to be Plentiful.

Trout fishing will be the next lure of the sportsman, and already there are many who are dusting off their reels in anticipation of a day or two along the streams on and after April 15, when the season opens in Pennsylvania. There are plenty of trout in the brooks, according to the best stories of the anglers, who have been so anxious to do a little inspecting for themselves that they could not stay away, even when the ice was yet sticking around the edges. And this has not been many days since, with the late spring which we have been having.

However, there were a couple of bright sunny days along in March which invited may for a ramble and their steps wended immediately trout-streamward, and what they saw only made the days seem longer from that time on to the approaching 15th.

The past winter has been very favorable to the thriving of the trout. There was no really severe weather which froze the streams to the bottom, like in other years, and with the great amount of rain there was no crowding out of the smaller fish, so that there will be trout to all sizes. The dry summer may have killed some trout, but it is believed that the streams were not so entirely dry that the fish could not find some deep water, and the conditions were relieved pretty early last fall.

An old fisherman, who has had a successful experience in angling for "speckled beauties," gives the following bit of advice which can be followed with good results by all:

"When you catch a trout too small to keep, or under the law limit, be sure to wet your hands before you touch it to take it from the hook and put it back in the water. The body of a trout is covered with slime that sticks to the human hand unless the hands have been wet, and when a trout has been thrown back into the water without this slime remaining on its body, nine cases out of ten the fish will die. This information will be valuable to fishermen."

COMMISSIONERS MISSED

George P. Morgan, of Philadelphia, and General Taylor, of Reedsville, members of the Pennsylvania Gettysburg Monument Commission, were to have met here this week to go over the preliminary details in the laying out of Pennsylvania Park about the new state monument. A misunderstanding caused the two gentlemen to miss each other, General Taylor arriving here Thursday and leaving before Mr. Morgan reached Gettysburg Friday evening.

APPOMATTOX DAY

M'VEAGH ATTACKS G. A. R. PENSIONS

Declares It Has Become a Political List.

LOST ITS PATRIOTIC ASPECT

Secretary of Treasury Declares Civil War Pensions Had No Scientific Basis, But Favors Civil Service Pensions.

Philadelphia, April 8. — Franklin MacVeagh, secretary of the treasury, attacked the Civil War pension list and at the same time expressed himself as heartily in favor of a civil service pension for government employees in an address at the opening session of the fifteenth annual meeting of the American Academy of Political and Social Science in Witherspoon hall.

"We have a perfectly enormous Civil War pension list," said the secretary in the course of his remarks, "which is not a credit to us. It never had a scientific or a just basis, although a worthy motive gave it origin. It has lost its patriotic aspect and become a political list, costing the government about $160,000,000."

Continuing, Secretary MacVeagh said he favored a civil service pension, and that it was a shame that 200,000 employees of the government should be provided for in their old age. The government cannot throw them out, he said, so is retaining them at a half rate of efficiency, which instead of economy is a great burden.

When the meeting convened Dr. Leo S. Rowe, the president of the academy, after a few remarks, introduced Secretary MacVeagh as the presiding officer. The latter then began his address on "Civil Service Pensions." In part he said:

"This is a materialistic age and a materialistic country. This fact is so generally recognized that we are liable to overlook the spiritual activities which are the greatest of the world as ever seen, and of which this academy is one of the evidences.

"It is a great problem to take the dread away from the latter end of life. It is a great and noble conception of civilization and humanity. Yet it is not alone a question of humanity, but is one that promotes thrift and foresight.

Attacks G. A. R. Pensions.

"The one place where this movement is neglected is in the United States government. So far as the retiring allowances for pensions in the government are concerned, we have a perfectly enormous Civil War pension list, which is not a credit to us. It never had a scientific or a just basis, although a very worthy motive gave it origin. It has lost its patriotic aspect and become a political list, costing the government about $160,000,000 per year.

"Outside of that we have pensions or a retiring list only for army and navy officers, the supreme court and the public health service. The whole civil list is left without any protection or consideration. It is most important that a pension list be established for the civil employees. It is absolutely necessary for the sake of the government itself. We hear a lot about economy and efficiency in the government service. I have tried to promote them myself, but am hampered in my efforts to promote economy through efficiency because of this very lack of a retiring list.

"We cannot throw these old men and women out into the streets. You would not have us do it any more than we will do it. Therefore we keep them even after their efficiency has deteriorated. So you can see why we are losing money by paying salaries for inefficiency in place of having efficient employees and a retiring list for those whose efficiency has departed.

"Every argument in favor of industrial insurance and pensions in commerce and industry has full force and effect in the government. The trouble lies not with congress. Congress is a much more amenable body than it gets credit for being. The real trouble is that there is no public spirit on the question.

"The civil employees themselves hamper the movement because they are divided on the question of a straight pension or the contributing system. Of course, the only system that ever will be established will be the contributing system, but you can't get them to agree on it."

Miner Crushed to Death.

York, Pa., April 8.—A sudden fall of many tons of earth and rock in an ore mine of the Juniata Furnace and Foundry company, near Beavertown, Carroll township, killed John Heiges, forty-five years old. Several other miners barely escaped the same fate. Heiges was completely buried from sight and his body crushed beyond recognition.

WIDENER BUYS "THE MILL"

Philadelphia Financier Pays $500,000 For a Painting.

Philadelphia, April 8.—The report from London that Peter A. B. Widener had purchased "The Mill" was confirmed at Mr. Widener's office here. The price paid, it was said, was slightly in excess of $500,000.

Prior to the sale of the celebrated Rembrandt by Lord Lansdowne, an option was given until March 31 to the trustees of the British National Gallery. A private subscription to keep the painting in London had netted only $89,240 when the option expired.

BRYAN LAYS PEACE PLAN BEFORE TAFT

Discussed Project For an Hour in White House.

Washington, April 8.—A plan for the furtherance of world peace was suggested to President Taft by William J. Bryan.

The Nebraskan spent over an hour at the White House discussing his project. The plan contemplates an application to the field of international relations of the method now in use in some countries for the settlement of labor disputes. It is a step toward arbitration, and is designed, according to Mr. Bryan's views, for nations that are not yet willing to take the full step for the arbitration of all international disputes.

Colonel Bryan proposes that nations that will not enter into arbitration treaties agree to submit international controversies to a complete investigation by an international board before war is declared. The moral effect of an impartial finding of this character would, he believes, prevent the widening of a breach between two nations into actual warfare.

The plan is drawn from the labor statutes of Canada. There it is required by law, in cases of labor disputes, that before a strike is declared, both sides shall submit to an investigation of the controversy by an impartial board. This board renders a report giving its opinion as to the causes and merits of the controversy and offering suggestions for its settlement. It is not binding upon either side. The Canadian government depends upon public opinion entirely to give effect to this report, and it has been found that in a large percentage of cases this method is sufficient to prevent an open rupture.

HARD COAL IN NEW YORK

Vein of Excellent Quality Struck at Depth of 300 Feet.

Middletown, N. Y., April 8.—It is believed a big vein of hard coal has been discovered near Livingston Manor, Sullivan county, and considerable excitement in that vicinity is the result.

While digging an eight-inch artesian well at the Corbett & Stewart acid factory, a vein of fine hard coal was struck at a depth of 300 feet. It is not known how thick the vein is, but the quality is excellent.

Big Hats Rouse Bishop's Ire.

Cambridge, Mass., April 8.—Christian Science and women's millinery were criticised by Bishop Thomas Neely, of New Orleans, at the New England Methodist Episcopal conference. "Christian Science is 2 per cent philosophy, 3 per cent religion and 95 per cent humbug," said the bishop. Big hats should not be tolerated in church, he declared, for they obstruct the view of the people behind and interfere with the services.

Mexican Rebels Routed.

San Luis Potosi, Mex., April 8.—The attempt of a small band of rebels to capture a small town near Valles, this state, resulted in three of them being killed and the capture of twenty-four others. A detachment of rurales is in pursuit of the remnants of the band.

TAFT SEES BALL GAME

Watches Amateur Teams Limbering Up Near White House.

Washington, April 8. — President Taft saw his first ball game of the season Friday. The president went out for a walk with Secretary Hilles and Major A. W. Butt. Coming back to the White House from Potomac park the party passed through the White House ellipse, where two amateur teams were limbering up.

The president stood through nearly an inning watching the game. Few of the "rooters" knew him, but he looked just as happy as when he occupies a box down in front of the Washington grand stand watching the Nationals play.

ATTACKS TOWN COUNCILMAN

Skull Fractured by Cripple With Crutch Who Sought Office.

Pottsville, Pa., April 8.—During an altercation Daniel Shuvin, a councilman, of New Philadelphia, sustained injuries from which he will most likely die.

Daniel Whalen, a cripple, failed to secure the position of road master, which he sought from the borough council. Shuvin, as a member of the council, was blamed by Whalen for his defeat. The latter struck him repeatedly over the head with his crutch, fracturing his skull. Shuvin has not regained consciousness.

RECORDS OF NINE WORKERS MISSING

Ex-President Lewis Suspected of Removing Documents.

Indianapolis, Ind., April 8.—Important records of the United Mine Workers of America are missing, and there is an intimation that retiring President Lewis has removed them, but there are no charges against him.

The officers refuse to discuss the matter or tell what records are missing, but they do not deny that some important ones are gone. Asked if they had demanded the records of Lewis, they refused to say, but it is understood that one of the officers will visit him for that purpose.

The missing records are said to cover a part if not all of Lewis' two terms as president, but whether they embrace the records of the executive board or only the particular orders and other acts of Lewis cannot be learned. It is believed they have been removed from the jurisdiction of the Indiana courts and that if a fight is made for their possession it will have to be made in Ohio.

3 DROWN IN RIVER BOAT

Wind Upsets Craft, Which Sinks With Members of Crew.

Monongahela, Pa., April 8.—The big river steamboat Henry A. Laughlin, belonging to the Vesta Coal company, was wrecked by a high wind, turned turtle and went to the bottom of the Monongahela river, keel upmost.

Effie Hughes, the cook, and Jane Lawrence, with the fireman, whose name is unknown, were drowned. Eleven others of the crew swam to shore.

The steamboat is thought to be a total loss, which is estimated at $70,000.

JURY ACQUITS WOMAN

Killed Husband's Affinity and Is Freed on Grounds of Insanity.

Dallas, Tex., April 8.—"We, the jury, find the defendant not guilty on the grounds of insanity."

This was the verdict by which Mrs. Lizzie Brooks was acquitted at Fort Worth of the charge of murdering Mrs. Mary Binford, her rival for the affections of her husband.

Mrs. Brooks, prostrated by nervousness, was not in court. Mrs. Brooks killed Mrs. Binford on the 16th of last January. All persons were of prominent social standing.

Incinerating Plant Burned.

Wilmington, Del., April 8. — The city garbage reduction plant, owned by the city and leased by the Wilmington Sanitary company, which has the municipal garbage reduction contract, was almost completely destroyed by fire, causing a loss of about $50,000.

1720 PASSENGERS TAKEN FROM LINER

Steamer Irene Still is Hard Aground on Sands.

New York, April 8.—All of the passengers of the Prinzess Irene—1726 men, women and children—were taken on board the Prinz Friedrich Wilhelm.

Tugs, adventuring into the shallow waters to the lee of the stranded Prinzess, had transhipped them in exactly five hours and ten minutes. The life savers said it was a record performance.

The sea has lightened and there was an off-shore wind, which, though strong, was a help rather than a danger to the steamship. It was reported that the Prinzess was still staunch and watertight and that there was no likelihood of her plates weakening under the incessant worrying of the waves. Her keel was buried a full six feet in the sand.

The Prinzess Irene has now been ashore about thirty-eight hours, and each additional hour that she remains in the sand increases the difficulty of getting her into deep water. Word was received from New York that the steel lighter Ironsides was being towed to the scene for the purpose of lightening the Irene of freight.

Just how much of the cargo would have to be lightened before the Irene can be drawn into deep water is a matter of pure speculation and there is just a possibility that if a heavy southeast storm should develop the Irene would find herself in most serious difficulties.

HITS FIFTH AVENUE HOMES

Plan to Widen Street Will Destroy Costly Fronts.

New York, April 8.—The board of estimate has taken up plans for the widening of Fifth avenue between Forty-eighth and Fifty-eighth streets to fifty-five feet by cutting down each sidewalk seven and one-half feet.

To compensate for this loss of space for pedestrians it is proposed that all encroachments beyond the building line shall be removed at the expense of the property owners.

Many of the city's best known private residences along the avenue will be included in the prospective widening order, starting with the house of Mrs. Sage, near Forty-eighth street, and ending with the iron fences of Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt's home at Fifty-seventh street. Across the street the houses of Mrs. Collis P. Huntington and Mrs. Herman Oelrichs, fronting in Fifty-seventh street, will lose parts of their stone ornamental pieces.

Radiant Hair

Any Woman Can Have it by Using Parisian Sage

Madam: If your hair isn't just what you would like it to be why don't you use Parisian Sage.

If it does not put life and luster into the hair and cause it to grow abundantly you can have your money back from the People's Drug Store.

"I cannot say enough in its favor. Two years ago I lost all my hair, I saw Parisian Sage advertised and thought I would try it. Before I had finished using the first bottle my hair had stopped falling and my head was covered with new hair; also removed all dandruff, and to-day I have a lovely head of hair.

I think Parisian Sage the best hair restorer and dandruff cure in the world to-day. It also makes the hair clean, fluffy and silky, and I would recommend it to every one who wishes a hair restorer and beautifier."—Miss Mary E. Dickson, 287 South Ave., Bridgeton, N. J., 1910.

For men, women and children, there is no hair preparation that equals Parisian Sage; it never disappoints; it does just what the American maker, advertise it to do. It banishes dandruff, kills the dandruff germ, stops falling hair or scalp itch, or money back. Sold by the People's Drug Store and druggists everywhere. Large bottle 50 cents.

The Farm Boys' brigade is a name given to an organization of boys of Sangamon county, Ill., who are banding themselves together for the purpose of studying agriculture. The brigade is managed by a set of officers as follows: General, lieutenant general, adjutant general and quartermaster general. Each of the twenty-six political townships of the county has a captain and four assistants. Any boy between the ages of ten and twenty-one may join the brigade. They have two objects in view:

First, encourage as many boys as possible to take the short course in agriculture at the state university; second, the raising of the largest yield of corn on one acre of ground during the coming summer. Prizes will be given for the latter.

The boys are taking hold of this movement with a "boost," and great results are to come from it no doubt, says Superintendent E. C. Pruitt of Springfield. The developing of leadership among the boys is one fine point not to be overlooked. The girls of the county are to be organized in like manner for their work.

Particularly the Ladies.

Not only pleasant and refreshing to the taste, but gently cleansing and sweetening to the system, Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna is particularly adapted to ladies and children, and beneficial in all cases in which a wholesome, strengthening and effective laxative should be used. It is perfectly safe at all times and dispels colds, headaches and the pains caused by indigestion and constipation so promptly and effectively that it is the one perfect family laxative which gives satisfaction to all and is recommended by millions of families who have used it and who have personal knowledge of its excellence.

Its wonderful popularity, however, has led unscrupulous dealers to offer imitations which act unsatisfactorily. Therefore, when buying, to get its beneficial effects, always note the full name of the Company—California Fig Syrup Co.—plainly printed on the front of every package of the genuine Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna.

For sale by all leading druggists. Price 50 cents per bottle.

MANY DEAD IN MINE FIRE

At Least Sixty Were Killed by Flames in Colliery.

RESCUER IS SUFFOCATED

Sixty or More Bodies Have Been Found and Are Being Brought to Foot of Shaft—Relatives Besiege Entrance to Shaft.

Scranton, Pa., April 8. — Between sixty and seventy mine workers, of whom a few were boys, lost their lives in the Dunmore, also called China, vein of the Pancoast colliery at Throop.

It was announced at the mine that the rescue party in the mines had found between sixty and seventy bodies far down in the China, or Dunmore, vein, about 2000 feet from the shaft, where they had evidently retreated for safety. None were rescued.

The bodies of the dead are being collected and piled at the foot of the shaft.

Fire 750 Feet Below Surface.

The Dunmore vein of the mine is 750 feet below the surface, making fire fighting difficult. The colliery is owned by the Scranton Coal company, affiliated with the New York, Ontario & Western company.

The fire which caused the mine horror broke out from some unknown and mysterious cause in the engine house at the foot of the shaft. Many persons attribute it to spontaneous combustion. At the time there were 300 men and boys in the various veins and chambers of the mine. The flames set off accumulations of gas, which increased the difficulty and doubtless increased the loss of life.

The scene of the mine is seething with excitement. It was difficult to obtain a coherent statement from any one. About the head of the shaft were gathered thousands of people, including the relatives and friends of the men entombed. Ropes had to be stretched to keep back the crowd and to prevent a stampede when the bodies were brought out.

The company officials acted with the greatest promptness when they learned the extent of the disaster, but once started the fire spread with remarkable rapidity. It caught on the timbering of the shaft and spread along the gangway. It seized upon everything that it could devour and with a wall of flame separated from safety the men who were in distant chambers of the Dunmore vein.

Government Rescuers Called.

As soon as it was seen that the fire was baffling the efforts to subdue it word was sent for the government rescue car at Kingston, and this responded, bringing four men equipped with apparatus, including helmets resembling those of divers, for penetrating into smoke and the dreaded fire damp.

This was the first test of the rescue car and its crew. The helmeted men were the only ones that could penetrate into the affected gangway, and they recovered the bodies found.

Joseph Evans, head of the United States mine rescue car, died. A defective rescue helmet caused him to suffocate while working in the burning mine.

The only man brought out alive from the zone of the fire was Joseph Vickers, a fire boss. Vickers finding the fire was becoming dangerous, accompanied by a companion, ran down the gangway to give the alarm. Before they had gone far their lights went out. Vickers realized his danger and started back. He missed his companion. He managed to get by the worst place on his return, but had gone only a little way beyond it when he was overcome by smoke. Hours later he was found by the fire fighters.

Vickers told the mine officials that there was absolutely no hope for the other men in the mine. "They perished hours ago," he said. "Nobody could live many minutes in such a place. The workings are filled with smoke, and there is no way for the entombed men to get air."

The three bodies recovered were found only a short distance from the fire, showing that the men who were driven to the end of the workings to escape the smoke have absolutely no chance of escaping.

Boxing Bill in Jersey Legislature.

Trenton, N. J., April 8.—A bill is before the state legislature to allow boxing at incorporated clubs. It was introduced by Assemblyman Ford, of Hudson county. The bill provides that boxing be permitted to teach one the art of self-defense and as a physical culture exercise.

Tom Johnson is Sinking.

Cleveland, O., April 8. — Former Mayor Johnson is ready for death. "I wish that sleep would come," he murmured. A tear started from his half-closed eyes and trickled down his cheek. Mr. Johnson had been lying practically unconscious since Thursday evening.

MARTIN TO LEAD SENATE MINORITY

Virginian Elected Chairman of Democratic Caucus.

PROGRESSIVES ARE BEATEN

The Election of Martin is a Victory For the Bailey Faction and a Rebuke For Bryan and His Followers.

Washington, April 8.—United States Senator Martin, of Virginia, was elected chairman of the Democratic caucus of the senate. The chairmanship carries with it the minority leadership of that body.

Mr. Martin got twenty-one votes, as against sixteen cast for Benjamin F. Shively, of Indiana, three senators being absent—Shively, of Indiana; Tillman, of South Carolina, and Terrell, of Georgia.

Senator Martin is a conservative and was opposed by the friends and followers of William J. Bryan and certain so-called "progressive Democrats," led by Senator Stone, of Missouri, and Senator Owen, of Oklahoma. It has been said that the peerless leader himself has been active against the Virginian.

The election of Martin is a victory for the Bailey wing of the Democracy in the senate. All of the new Democratic senators except Chilton, of West Virginia, and John Sharp Williams, of Mississippi, voted against Martin.

Senator Martin is one of the Democrats who voted on several measures with the Republicans when the Payne-Aldrich tariff law was under consideration, and this fact has been used by the so-called progressive Democrats in attacking Senator Martin as a reactionary.

All of the southern Democrats except one, Senator Smith, of South Carolina, supported Mr. Martin. Some of the northern Democrats, who have not been classed as "insurgent," like Senator O'Gorman, of New York, voted against the Virginian senator.

On the other hand, Senator Culberson, of Texas, who is generally classed as a "progressive" or insurgent, and whose name was under consideration at one time by the Bryan senators for the minority leadership, voted for Senator Martin. It is known that Senator Shively was favorable to Senator Martin and would probably have voted for him had he not been detained by illness.

The action of the caucus was unanimous as to the other officers. Senator B. F. Shively, of Indiana, was re-elected vice chairman, and Senator William E. Chilton, of West Virginia, secretary, by acclamation.

Chairman Martin was authorized to appoint a committee of nine on reorganization of the committees of the senate. This committee will also be endowed with other powers, and it is possible later that a committee on legislation will be appointed.

COUNT OUT WOMAN MAYOR

City Councils Gives Election to Her Opponent.

Hunnell, Kan., April 8. — After winning the mayoralty of Hunnwell, Mrs. Ella Wilson was counted out by the city council and the certificate of election given to her opponent, O. M. Akers, who is town clerk.

When the vote was counted Monday night a tie was found. A law was discovered directing a casting of lots by the judges. When the slips were drawn Mrs. Wilson won. The judges made a return showing her election. The council counted the ballots and reported Akers had one more vote than Mrs. Wilson. Mrs. Wilson has engaged lawyers to contest the case.

ANGRY BRIDEGROOM?

Marriage License Clerk Receives Black Hand Letter.

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., April 8.—Edward H. Smith, the marriage license clerk of this county, and James Stem, his neighbor, both of whom live in Pittston, found Black Hand letters thrust under their doors.

The letters notified them that unless they leave the city within a week their houses will be dynamited and they will be killed. They have turned the letters over to the police, but as yet there is no clue as to who wrote them. They did not know they had any enemies and are giving all the aid they can to the police in the effort to find the letter writers.

Bubonic Plague in Cuba.

Havana, April 8.—A light form of the bubonic plague, it is feared, has appeared in Los Palacios, in Pinar del Rio province. Several physicians who have made an analysis of the germs say the disease has marked bubonic indications. The official analysis, however, takes the opposite view, although it gives no name to the malady.

Turn Against Dr. Cook.

New York, A. April 8.—Members of the Brooklyn Institute of Arts and Sciences, who struck the name of their fellow townsman, Dr. Frederick A. Cook, from their roll a year and a half ago, presented Rear Admiral Robert E. Peary with a certificate of honorary membership in the institute.

The Season for Ice is Approaching

The Gettysburg Ice & Storage Company will sell Ice this summer at the same price, thirty cents per hundred pounds, retail, as in former years.

The impression has become somewhat general that because of the shortage of natural ice harvested this winter the Gettysburg Ice & Storage Company would increase the price of their product. This impression is entirely erroneous. It is the policy of the company not to take an advantage of this nature.

Their purpose is to merit the patronage and confidence of the public by fair, open treatment and by maintaining the quality of their products.

That bountiful crop production is very closely associated with what we understand as "good times" and prosperity may be realized in the case of the two leading products of the country—corn and cotton. The value of the first in round numbers for 1910 was $1,500,000,000, which is said to be sufficient to pay the interest bearing debt of the United States and exceed by a considerable value all the gold and silver dug out of the earth in the year 1909. The value of the cotton crop for the year just past is placed at $800,000,000, which would be enough to just about wipe out the national debt. When these and numerous other crops aggregating values correspondingly large are produced from the soil of the United States annually it is realized the more readily why our country is one of the wealthiest and most prosperous in all the earth.

RESOLUTIONS

At a meeting of the Lutheran Mite Society at Fairfield a committee was appointed to draft resolutions on the death of Mrs. Kate Ogden Muselman.

Whereas Our Heavenly Father in his all-wise Providence has seen fit to remove from us our beloved sister and co-worker.

Resolved: That we deplore the death of our sister, and extend heartfelt sympathies to the bereaved family and pray God's richest blessings may comfort them in their sorrow.

Resolved: That we deem the character and example of our departed sister one worthy to follow and that we pray God that He may make us all such willing workers in the kingdom here below.

Resolved: That these resolutions be recorded in our minutes, and that they be published in the county papers, and a copy of them be sent to the family.

Certain Results

Many a Gettysburg Citizen Knows How Sure They are.

Nothing uncertain about the work of Doan's Kidney Pills in Gettysburg. There is plenty of positive proof of this in the testimony of citizens. Such evidence should convince the most skeptical doubter. Read the following statement:

Mrs. Mary Ohler, 186 Hanover St., Gettysburg, Pa., says: "I was troubled by weak and disordered kidneys for over a year. My back ached constantly and pains extended from my loins into my head. I had chills and dizzy spells and was bothered by the kidney secretions. Doan's Kidney Pills were so highly recommended that I finally procured a box at the People's Drug Store and commenced their use. A few doses brought relief and after continuing the use of this remedy for a short time, all symptoms of my trouble disappeared. Doan's Kidney Pills deserve my endorsement."

(Statement given November 1, 1907.)

A WILLING CORROBORATION.

On January 3, 1910, when Mrs. Ohler was interviewed, she said: "I heartily recommend Doan's Kidney Pills again and confirm all I have previously said about them. This remedy should have a permanent place in every household."

LATE BLIGHT OF CELERY.

Methods Found Efficacious in California in Dealing With Disease.

According to the College of Agriculture of California, the celery blight is one of the many fungous diseases which may be controlled by spraying with bordeaux mixture.

Based on the results of investigation by a California expert, the following spraying scheme is recommended: The formula for bordeaux should be five pounds of bluestone, six pounds of stone lime and fifty gallons of water. When the plants are small thirty to forty gallons of bordeaux per acre are sufficient, but the amount should be increased at each application, so that when the plants are fifteen or more inches high the spray is put on at the rate of not less than 100 gallons per acre.

Spray seed beds at least twice, especially if grown on soil which produced blighted celery the preceding year.

After plants are transplanted, the first blight is noticed. In any event the first spraying should be given not later than six weeks after transplanting, and one application a month should be given until the seasonal rain or heavy fog comes.

After the rains have set in spray every two weeks if possible until the crop is harvested.

Where the plants are over fifteen inches tall they should be gone over twice at each spraying, the machine moving in the opposite direction the second time.

Upon the carefulness and thoroughness of the spraying is dependent to a large extent the successful control of the blight.

Demonstration plots sprayed by the experimenter according to the above scheme came through the season in first class shape and were almost entirely free from blight at harvest time.

Farming is a manufacturing business, and costs of production must be calculated as carefully as in any other business.

Look Out For Cabbage Flies.

Lettuce, radishes and onions will require careful watching in early spring to prevent the ravages of cabbage flies. They are so small as to easily escape notice, and the first suspicion of their presence will be the disappearance of the young plants just as they are nicely started. Dusting liberally with soot, wood ashes or air slaked lime will prevent their work, but it should be done as soon as the plants appear above ground.

Fertilizing the Muskmelon.

The New Jersey experiment station secured an increase in yield of 115 per cent by the use of 150 to 200 pounds of nitrate of soda per acre. Half the fertilizer was applied at planting time about the hills and worked into the soil and the remainder about three weeks later. Dried blood and sulphate of ammonia used in the same manner were a little less effective, but increased the yield from 87 to 91 per cent.

There should be a good reason for everything done on the farm, and things that are unreasonable should not be done. Whenever superstition is banished and systematic thinking takes the place of "moon farming" farm progress will begin.

Oilmeal For Live Stock.

Oil cake or oilmeal in proper quantities is considered by our best stockmen to be one of the most healthful foods that is on the market, states Professor Humphrey of the University of Wisconsin.

Look After the Plow.

What is the condition of the plow? Has it been properly protected this winter, and is it in good condition for plowing when needed? A plow that will not scour is an abomination.

The Bad Bankers.

An Irish laborer in the federal prison at Atlanta had to undergo a serious surgical operation when he was serving his term. His nurses were two prominent bank officials who for the sake of their sins were wearing away the days by working as attendants in the prison hospital.

"How are you today?" the doctor asked the Irishman when he was convalescing.

"Oh, pretty fair," he answered, "but these bank presidents make mighty bum nurses. They don't know their business. I should have been well, but they have put several bad checks on my recovery."—St. Louis Republic.

In climates sufficiently mild for outdoor rose culture there are probably no roses that bloom more profusely and beautifully than the Killarney and Caroline Testout, and for this reason they are especially adapted for hedge and border uses.

GOT OUT OF HIS LINE.

And He Felt That the Punishment Fitted the Crime.

Years ago Irvin S. Cobb, the humorous writer, was a correspondent for various out of town papers while working in Paducah, Ky. Not a great deal of genuine news for out of town consumption is manufactured at Paducah. As Mr. Cobb needed the money there was a period during which it appeared that Paducah had become the news center of the middle west. Not a day passed that some astounding story was not printed under a Paducah date. "We stood for them," said the former telegraph editor of a St. Louis paper, "because they were so good, even though we knew they were fakes. But one day the boss called me in. 'Who is this man Cobb at Paducah?' he asked.

"When I had satisfied his thirst for knowledge he told me to fire Cobb. 'I know all the stories he has written are fakes,' said he, 'but I can't stand for that one he sent us yesterday. I like some sanity even in a fake story. It must sound as though it might possibly under certain conditions be partly true.'

"So," said the ex-telegraph editor, "I fired Cobb. I thought he would get angry over this, but he didn't. He seemed chastened in spirit, though. He wrote me a letter in which he made no protest or complaint about getting fired. 'It served me right for getting out of my line,' said he. 'That was the only story I ever sent you that was wholly true.'"—Cincinnati Times-Star.

Dignifying Dad.

The wife of a wealthy business man of Chicago was the daughter of a policeman. As they grew rich both she and her husband concealed the fact as much as possible for the sake of their social prestige. At a luncheon several society women of high position had been talking about their families. "What was your father's business, Mrs. D.?" was finally asked of the business man's wife. Mrs. D. was not disturbed. "My father was in the copper business," she said, with cool emphasis.

Won His Appointments.

When Hoke Smith was secretary of the Interior he was especially generous to Georgians in the matter of department clerkships. It was generally conceded that around the patent, pension and land offices one could not throw a stick without hitting a Georgian. Senator Voorhees of Indiana had been trying to place one or two Hoosier constituents, but had failed. One day the senator came along whistling "Marching Through Georgia" and keeping step to the tune.

"What are you doing that for?" asked Hoke Smith.

"Just can't help it," said Senator Voorhees. "It is just like marching through Georgia to come through your department."

He got the appointments that day.

In selecting a breed of dairy cows it is not so vital a thing that one should have this or that variety as that he should select the breed which he likes best. The performance of the several leading breeds is so nearly on an equality that success is largely a matter of the man and his method anyway.

PREVENTION OF DUST ON ROADS

Permanent Treatment of Public Highways With Tar.

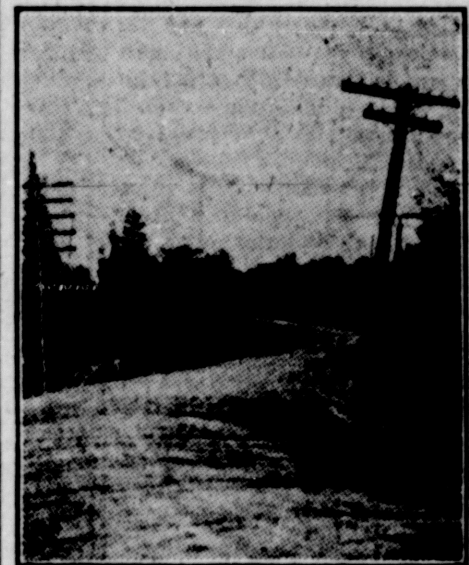

PRINCIPAL MATERIAL USED.

If Work Is Properly Done a Treated Road After Being Opened For Traffic a Short While Takes an Appearance Closely Resembling Asphalt—it Is Waterproof and Dustless.

Although the problem of dust prevention on public highways is by no means a new one, its importance has been greatly accentuated by the comparatively recent introduction of the automobile, says the Scientific American. The dust raising tendency of the latter is due to the destructive shearing action of the tires of the driving wheels and the intense suction and eddying producing effect of the car body in passing swiftly over surfaces which have been already loosened up by tire action. In the days of the horse drawn vehicle the iron shoes of the horse and the tires had a tendency to consolidate rather than loosen up the surface of a well made macadam road, and the comparatively small amount of dust which gathered could be sufficiently laid by one or two daily trips of the watering cart. The advent of the automobile, however, has complicated the problem greatly, and it has become necessary not merely to find a more efficient means for laying the dust, but to provide also a method of road construction which will more firmly bind the road material together and enable it to stand up under the extreme conditions which the automobile has imposed.

The most valuable quality in any dust preventive is its ability to hold together the finely divided material which is produced on or near the surface of the road. The value of any oil, asphalt, emulsion or what not lies at the last analysis in its "binding power," and this quality in any dust preventive is proportionate to the amount of bituminous base which it contains.

The principal material used in the permanent treatment of roads with tar are coal tar, refined coal tar and water gas tar. They may be used effectively either by applying them to a road already finished or by incorporating them in the surface material of the road during construction. In applying the tar to an old road the surface should be thoroughly dry, comparatively warm and free from dust.

Moisture prevents the tar from proper contact with the stone, and a cold surface stiffens the material and prevents its being absorbed. Before the application is made ruts and hollows should be filled and the surface brought up to a smooth and even condition. The tar, heated to about 190 degrees F., is spread upon the road through a hose or by other suitable means and is then thoroughly broomed in.

After this has been done, to secure good results, the surface treated should be closed to all traffic for about twelve hours so as to give the tar an opportunity to thoroughly sink in the surface. Next a coat of clean sand or stone chips should be applied to absorb any excess tar and dry up the surface, as it were. The road should then be rolled thoroughly to bring it into condition.

In applying the tar in new construction the road should be formed and consolidated without the use of water. The voids should be filled with fine stone chips free from dust, and care must be taken not to roll the surface too heavily or the tar will not adhere properly. Hot tar may be applied through all of the courses as they are laid and rolled, but occasionally the upper course only is so treated. After tarring, a top dressing of material is laid on and the surface is thoroughly rolled. The tar spreading may be done either by hand, in which case an excess above what is necessary will probably be used, or it may be spread on by an apparatus mounted on wheels, the tar being discharged under pressure at the road surface by specially designed spraying nozzles.

If the work be properly done, a treated road after being open to traffic for a short while takes on an appearance closely resembling asphalt, being smooth and firm, practically noiseless and more resilient than asphalt. It is largely waterproof, practically dustless, and the resistance to traction is less than that of an untreated macadam road.

Whole hearted appreciation of the service which those about us render, whether in business life or the home circle, doesn't cost a red cent, yet meets a longing which every one has and which money alone cannot satisfy.

ANAEMIA AND WEAKNESS

Constantly Being Cured by Vinol. An Interesting Case Reported

Greenboro, N. C.—"I would not take a thousand dollars for the good Vinol has done me.

"I was told that cod liver oil was the medicine I needed for poor blood and my weakened condition. I could not take the greasy mixture, but when my druggist explained to me that Vinol contained all the medicinal curative elements of cod liver oil, without the grease, and tonic iron added, I made up my mind that Vinol was the medicine for me.

"I tried it, and today am strong and well,—Mrs. J. T. Snider." (We guarantee this testimonial to be genuine.)

Vinol is a specific for impure, impoverished blood and it is the greatest tonic we know of.

We sell Vinol always with the understanding that if the purchaser is not satisfied with the result it gives we will cheerfully refund his money. That seems fair. People's Drug Store, C. Wm. Boales, proprietor, Gettysburg, Pa.
